MAIN NEWS OF THE MARKET

On April 7 Fitch Ratings had published its latest semi-annual "Bank Systemic Risk report", says that banks worldwide face an increasingly challenging operating environment. Bank systemic risk continues to rise, the US and Swiss banking systems have weakened due to the US subprime crisis, and a sharp fall in global credit growth is underway. Developed countries in aggregate have more elevated macro prudential indicators (MPI) than emerging markets. The dependence of Kazakhstan's banking system on external funding made it an early casualty of the global credit squeeze. Credit growth is now slowing rapidly but strong sovereign support has averted systemic failure.

On April 8 Kazakhmys(London) has applied to the UK Takeover Panel Executive (the "Takeover Panel Executive") for a ruling under Rule 2.4(b) of the City Code on Takeovers and Mergers (the "Takeover Code"). Such a ruling, if made, would set a deadline by which ENRC must, unless the Takeover Panel Executive consents otherwise, either announce a firm intention to make an offer for Kazakhmys in accordance with Rule 2.5 of the Takeover Code or announce that it does not intend to make an offer for Kazakhmys. If ENRC announces that it does not intend to make an offer for Kazakhmys, ENRC and any person acting in concert with it will, except with the consent of the Takeover Panel Executive, be bound by the restrictions contained in Rule 2.8 of the Takeover Code for six months from the date of such announcement. Let us remind that on 12 March 2008 Eurasian Natural Resources Corporation PLC ("ENRC") made an announcement that one of the opportunities at the early stages of being evaluated by ENRC was a possible combination of its business with that of Kazakhmys. On 13 March 2008 Kazakhmys announced that no proposal had been received from ENRC and Kazakhmys confirms today that nothing has been received since that date.

On April 8 Exploration Production KazMunayGas JSC (Astana) had spread the press-release, in which is informed that the company in the light of increase of the tax loading is conducting the analysis of its production, financial and investment plans. In particular, this review will focus on the capital investment budget, projected crude oil production levels, estimates of the recoverable reserves as well as plans for new acquisitions. Based on the currently available information the export duty would be applicable to some or all of the exported crude oil out of that produced by the Company's production branches Uzenmunaigas and Embamunaigas. The total exports from these two entities amounted to 7.3 million tones. Kazgermunai and CCEL ("Karazhanbasmunai"), each 50%-owned by KMG EP, have explicit customs stability clauses in their production contracts and are therefore expected to be exempt from the new export duty at this stage.

Should the new export duty of USD109.91 per tonne be applied to the entire export volumes of Uzenmunaigas and Embamunaigas, the estimated annualized financial impact, before income taxes, would be approximately USD800 million. The export duty is deductible for the purposes of the corporate income tax and excess profit tax.

On April 8 the Government of Kazakhstan accepted the decision about introduction in May 2008 of the oil export tax in size of $109.91 per ton. Export tax will be imposed on 27 million tons of oil. Tax won't affect the interests of huge oil-gas projects with foreign companies' participation – Tengizshevroil and Karachaganak, though it will affect EP KazMunaiGas and oil-producing “daughter companies” of state oil companies.

On April 9 National Bank of Republic of Kazakhstan informed that by the official data of the Statistics agency of Republic of Kazakhstan, inflation in March 2008 made 0.6% (in March 2007 – 0.7%). The preservation of inflation is promoted by growth of prices for food stuffs, which for the period had increased by 3.7%, mainly due to growth in prices for fruits and vegetables by 14.6%, milk products – by 6.1%, fish and sea products – by 3.7%. In March 2008 inflation in annual expression made 18.7% (in December 2007 – 18.8%).

Kazakhstan shares market managed to hold in the limits of new price channel between 2,550 and 2,650 points. KASE index had closed on Wednesday by 4.7 points lower than closing of last Wednesday (-0.18 %). Considering Kazakhstan market from the viewpoint of the technical analysis, it should be noted the enough strong support level at 2,550. KASE index had approached this rate on March 31 and April 4, however the strong resistance caused by the livening up of bulls at lower rates did not let it [index] to go lower this level. In case if due to the bears' mood continuation the market won't manage to strike (for the third time) the rate of 2,550, that it is possible to speak seriously about the stability of market within the nearest time.

On Wednesday the Ministry of energy of USA had published the report according to which oil reserves in USA decreased by 3.2 m. barrels, on the contrary to expected growth by 2.7 m. barrels. Moreover, at the background of expectation for the session of European central bank and Bank of England on April 10 had started the next weakening of US dollar. In relation to the portfolio of world currencies the dollar decreased on April 9 by 0.7%. All that had become the reason for growth of prices for energy carriers to the new maximums. The oil of Brent Forties Oseburg mark increased to $108.47 per barrel (the maximum was registered on March 14 at $110.58).

On that background on the common shares of Exploration Production KazMunayGas JSC (RDGZ) was registered the growth by 10.01% to KZT19,802.00 per share. It should be noted that this growth is unexplainable at the background of messages from mass media, that the new tax will touch the oil extracted by Exploration Production KazMunayGas JSC. It is unknown, whether the new tax measurement will concern the whole volume of extracted oil. Nevertheless, the company is expecting for decrease of profits before taxation by $800 m. in case if the tax will concern the whole oil, extracted on Ozenmunaygas and Embamunaygas (main production units of Exploration Production KazMunayGas). By estimations of the analysts of IRBIS the decrease of before tax income have to influence significantly on the future net income of the company, whether the effect from increase of prices for energy carriers.

Very much worse were the shares of banks. The mostly liquid representatives of banking sector of the country – Kazkommertsbank JSC (KKGB) and Halyk savings bank of Kazakhstan JSC (HSBK) – decreased by 2.99% and 1.57% correspondingly. As previously, these instruments continue to move after London, where investors are in some hesitation in relation to securities of financial organizations, including Kazakhstan. But yet, there are no fundamental reasons for cardinal change of cost of these securities.

The interesting event of the week had become the opening on April 7 of trades with common shares of EURASIAN NATURAL RESOURCES CORPORATION PLC (ENRC) on KASE. Initially by the messages of some mass media sources it was planned that in Kazakhstan will be sold 0.8% portfolio of company's shares. From the moment of trades start on KASE, 12 deals for amount of $150.3 th. were made. Price for that time increased by 6.25 %, what in principle, was corresponding to dynamics of trades with this instrument on London stock exchange. The growth of common shares of ENRC in London was promoted by news about possible purchasing of KAZAKHMYS PLC, about positive financial results for year 2007, about growing feed resources, and also about positive forecasts of the company for year 2008.

During the next week analysts of IRBIS do not expect for significant changes of market conjuncture, however do not exclude the price correction of shares of Exploration Production KazMunayGas JSC, which may lead to next fall of index to 2,550.

Detailed results of trades in shares on KASE are given in the table.
