22. Positive and negative factors influencing the profitability of sales (work, services) by major types of activity of the joint-stock company

- Future activity results will depend on the macroeconomic situation in Kazakhstan. Overall, a favorable economic environment aids revenue growth while unfavorable economic conditions cause revenues to go down.
- Further slowdown in the growth of mobile market in Kazakhstan may cause a slowdown or reduction in growth of the Company's revenues and profit.

• The Company receives revenue from selling mobile services to the subscribers in Kazakhstan. Therefore, growth of Company's revenues and profit depends on the growth of Kazakhstani mobile services market, which has for the past several years been showing sings of slowdown. A relatively high level of penetration of mobile voice communication impedes further increase in the Company's and other mobile operators' subscriber bases in the country, which makes them dependent on the growth of mobile usage by their subscribers, including increase in voice and data, as well as growing demand for content and other services. Further slowdown in subscriber base growth or in mobile usage may cause the Company's revenues and profit growth rate to slow down or decrease.
